

ABSTRACT

A device for triggering ignition circuits is provided, a coupling being provided between a positive output stage and negative output stage of different pairs. Each positive and 5 each negative output stage is assigned a diagnostic unit and a drive circuit.